

Are the aged Care sector funding amounts, in particular Assistive Technology and Home Modifications List, equivalent to the NDIA? $15,000 for egress and bathroom mods is not enough to fairly fund modifications while the market is overinflated by NDIA paying infinite uncapped amounts to builders who don't bother quoting for jobs under $50k.

At what point will NDIA be reined in. All allied health, nurses, clinical professionals and home care staff should be paid the award amounts and no more. How can a 64 yo who had a stroke be approved a $1 million package and an older Australian who has a stroke at 66 (still unable to access their aged pension) be approved a maximum of $60k (current HCP4)? How are they so different in terms of worth and due respect?

Retirement age is 67. Will the Aged Care Act be changed to reflect this?
