I shall attempt to be succinct in my endorsement in favour of the availability of homeopathic medicines by making my submission in point form:

- Homeopathic medicines have practically no adverse side effects, in contrast to allopathic medicines
- There is a widespread and growing demand in Australia for complementary medicines, with approx.. 70% of Australians using them annually
- Consumer choice requires access at pharmacies
- Looking abroad, there is widespread availability of homeopathics , especially in Europe
- I have many personal reservations with the NHMRC Homeopathy Review findings
