

In respect of draft rule 149-70 (Security of tenure - movement of individuals), we have residents in our aged care facilities with complex social, behavioural and psychological needs. Altercations may occur between residents, and residents may be asked to move from a room to another if the residents involved cannot sort out their issues. This is for the wellbeing of the residents involved, and the harmony of the facility for the benefit of all residents.